Councilmember Nation next made a motion, seconded by Councilmember Geiger, to authorize Chief Johnson to seek grant funding for the remainder of this year and 2011, to cover all costs associated with establishing/operating DWI Sobriety Checkpoints at various locations within the City. Discussion followed. Councilmember Erickson stated that, while he clearly understand the many problems associated with DWI's, he intends to vote "No". Mayor Nations thanked Chief Johnson for his professionalism and concern for the safety of Chesterfield residents, by bringing this proposal forward. In response to various questions, Chief Johnson confirmed the following: If grant funding is secured, it would cover the operation of these "checkpoints" for the remainder of 2010 and throughout 2010; the criteria for conducting a sobriety checkpoint have long been established by the State and if there is a traffic back-up, the cars will be passed on through until the back-up is cleared; initially the City plans to utilize 50% of the manpower from St. Louis County and this will allow the Chesterfield officers some exposure and experience in conducting the sobriety checkpoints; the City will wait for grant approval before establishing sobriety checkpoints; a special order is prepared, drafted and approved by himself, through the Command Staff, specifying exactly the times, location, the frequency and the number of vehicles that will be stopped - there is no deviation from this; sobriety checkpoints are not typically set up at an intersection and that checkpoints are set up on a stretch of heavily traveled roadway; these checkpoints are very controlled scenarios, with the manner of operations set by the Missouri Department of Highway Safety; sobriety checkpoints are very effective in removing intoxicated drivers from the road and sending a message to the community that driving intoxicated will not be tolerated in the City. A voice vote was taken with an affirmative result (7-1-0 – Councilmember Erickson voted "No") and the motion was declared passed.

Councilmember Nation reported that the next meeting of this Committee has not yet been scheduled.
