In review of the items, the Committee expressed no opinion on a proposed change of Boundary Commission legislation relative to annexations of areas currently within Fire Districts.

Relative to a proposal to more accurately define the term "Unincorporated Pocket," the Committee was not convinced that the population of 2,000 should be used. The Committee was of the opinion that this matter needed more discussion by the Boundary Changes Committee.

The Committee had no firm opinion relative to a change in the voting format after 1996, for annexations of unincorporated pockets. The Committee also questioned the inclusion as an 11th criteria for consideration by the Boundary Commission, the impact of annexations and incorporations upon St. Louis County.

ITEM XIII.

Discussion with City of Chesterfield Planning Commission.

Planning Commission Chair Domahidy addressed the purpose of the meeting. Ms. Domahidy provided an overview of the Planning Commission Committees, noting the commitment, process and perspective provided by each Committee.

Councilmember Hurt complimented the efforts of the Commission, and urged them to continue the fine job. He indicated they understood there would be differences of opinion, on occasion, between the Planning Commission and the City Council.

Chair Domahidy noted the various products that will come from the efforts of the Committees. The design guidelines are intended to provide developers and others with an understanding of policies and processes of the City.

Comprehensive Plan Committee Chair Barbara McGuinness addressed the Committee on the Update Process of the Comprehensive Plan for 1992. She noted that the process will include the soon to be annexed area, with representation from that area. She also noted that Update of the Comprehensive Plan will, henceforth, be done every other year, as opposed to every year.

Ordinance Review Committee Chair Mary Brown addressed the activities of the Committee relative to revising the Sign Ordinance. The Committee is seeking balance in the Sign Regulations, particularly for such items as temporary signage. The Committee is considering establishing sign packages for developments. Also under consideration is a review of City Ordinance No. 129, to establish better criteria rather than just size of the sign. Ms. Brown noted that a meeting will be held with a representative of various interested parties prior to a public hearing on the sign amendment.

Site Plan/Landscape Committee Chair Bill Kirchoff noted that the Committee was preparing policy statements on landscaping. Eventually, it is anticipated that these policies will be transformed into an ordinance. Items being considered include buffer areas in residential developments adjacent to non-residential streets, requirements for irrigation, maintenance bonds, etc.

Architectural Review Chair Pat O'Brien noted the two (2) purposes of the Committee are to convene for specific review when requested by the Planning Commission, and to establish design review standards. The design standards are to be developed to apprise what is expected in building design and to establish a base line with flexibility. The Committee has revised the current architectural review submittal requirements for the Planning Commission. Ms. O'Brien noted that design review eventually would include not only architecture, but also landscaping and signage. The Committee is also considering development of a point system for building design. The possibility of including design professionals which could preclude the need for a point system had also been discussed.

(At this time Councilmember Hurt left the meeting.)

Councilmember Hrabko complimented the Planning Commission on its effort, and was encouraged by the efforts of the Architectural Review Committee. He was also complimentary relative to developing of a point system.

Councilmember Bute noted the need to clarify Sign Regulations relative to maximum allowable area, while at the same time signage must be reviewed under provisions of Ordinance No. 129.

Planning Commission Member Brown noted the effort of the Ordinance Review Committee to clarify the Sign Regulations, noting that some thirty-two (32) square foot signs do not necessarily need review. Ms. Brown also noted that the Committee is going towards smaller sign size.

Councilmember Bute requested that the Commission do what it could to assure that promises made by developers to residents are included within ordinance conditions.

Planning Commissioner Sherman noted that it may be appropriate for the Commission to seek response from the developers at the public hearing if he had conducted a meeting with residents.

Councilmember Hrabko suggested that the Commission might seek to pursue access to cable television.

Commissioner Scruggs noted that, as the various Committees develop policies for landscaping, architectural review, and other items, these matters should be brought back to the Planning and Economic Development Committee prior to their implementation. This would allow for comment by the Planning and Economic Development Committee prior to adoption by the Planning Commission.

The meeting adjourned at 6:40 p.m.
