Success and progress!

We are very pleased to report that since the last newsletter, we have achieved success with regard to the effort to modify the state statute that dictates the method of distribution of the county-wide pool sales tax. Not only were identical bills passed in both the House of Representatives and Senate, but Governor Nixon signed HB 1561 on July 1, 2016.

We are extremely grateful to the sponsoring legislators, Senator Dave Schatz, Representative Sue Allen and Representative Mike Leara, as well as our lobbyist, Jeff Brooks. Additionally, I am very appreciative of the tremendous work and technical support provided by our Finance Director, Craig White, and other members of City staff.

Whereas this is a small, but significant step in the right direction, I believe that passage of this legislation is an indication that the legislature has recognized, and the Governor has acknowledged, that this manner of revenue redistribution is inherently flawed and archaic. We maintain that the system is in need of fundamental reform and are anxious to work with other stakeholders to collaborate and develop a revised plan that is more equitable to all entities.

Fund reserves

The finances of the City of Chesterfield revolve around three different funds - General Fund (largest), Park Sales Tax Fund and the Capital Improvement Sales Tax Fund. The total budget for the City is approximately $42 million, of which the General Fund accounts for about half of the total.

As you might suspect, the City has a fund reserve policy and maintains a minimum

General Fund - fund reserve balance of budgeted expenditures in order to meet unforeseen needs or deal with unexpected issues beyond our control. The City's fund reserve requirement is approximately $8.5 million for the year ending December 31, 2016 which our fund reserves currently exceed by approximately $2.5 million.

Public input on zoning

I am sure that many of you have noticed that we have recently had many developments coming in for rezoning and approval, some of which have stirred quite a bit of controversy. First of all, I think it is important to make the public aware of the opportunity to not only follow the process and progress of individual developments, but to attend meetings and even speak in favor of or in opposition to any particular development.

Near the beginning of each Council meeting, there is a public comment portion, during which any member of the public may speak on any topic for three minutes. All that is necessary is that a speaker card be filled out before meeting begins and be given to the City Clerk near the front of Council Chambers. Council meetings are generally held on the first and third Monday evenings at 7 p.m.

Progress of individual projects can be followed on the City's website at chesterfield.mo.us and search for "active projects." In addition to the Council meetings mentioned above, Planning Commission meetings are generally held on the second and fourth Monday evenings at 7 p.m. Council Committee meetings are also open to the public and posted on the website. Generally, the public is not invited to speak during committee meetings unless asked to provide information. We also have a Planner of the Day program wherein a planner is available by phone or in person to answer questions. They can be reached at 636.537.4733 or pod@chesterfield.mo.us. I hope this information is helpful.

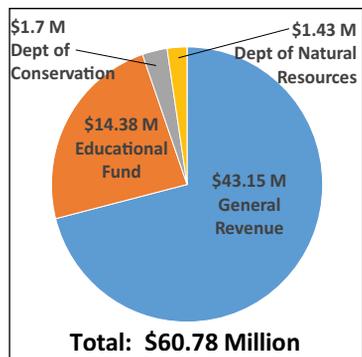

I hope to see you out and about, and feel free to say hello, as I enjoy talking with our friendly residents.

Best Regards,

Bob Nation

Riparian Trail offers residents a beautiful nature path in the heart of the City

Like the Monarch-Chesterfield Levee Trail, the Riparian Trail opened in June of 2016. The trail was closed for several months due to an erosion issue, but is now open for walking, running and biking. The Riparian Trail is a half-mile crushed stone and boardwalk path that meanders through the woods along Chesterfield Creek. Trail users can get up close with native wildlife and the beautiful scenery in the heart of the Chesterfield. The trailhead is located at the intersection of Lydia Hill Drive and Veterans Place Drive near the Chesterfield Family Aquatic Center and the Amphitheater. The Riparian Trail is part of a three-phase plan to construct a pedestrian and bike path which will begin near the Chesterfield Family Aquatic Center and will extend to Old Chesterfield Road and eventually connecting to the Monarch-Chesterfield Levee Trail.

As part of the Get Active program, the City of Chesterfield offers over 23 miles of walking, running and bike routes throughout the city. To download these maps, please visit chesterfield.mo.us/bikingjoggingwalking-routes.html.

Be informed about Proposition S

Proposition S is a measure on the November 8 ballot that will generate over $17 million annually for St. Louis City, St. Louis County and St. Charles County to fund additional services for those age 60 and over living in their homes. It will help the senior population with critical, unmet needs such as transportation, health care, housing and access to nutritious food/meals.

Proposition S will raise property taxes by $9.50 for every $100,000 of a home's assessed value - a $200,000 home will see an increase of $19 in property tax annually. Revenue raised will be deposited into a senior citizens service fund, and an independent board will allocate these funds to agencies already providing services for senior citizens to remain in their homes. Since 1991, 51 Missouri counties have adopted this measure. It will help keep seniors in their homes as long as possible and assist their family members and friends with their care. Members of the department's command staff attended Dr. Fridell's 6-hour class, prior to requesting to host the train-the-trainer class, as well as other similar trainings offered to police departments.

Hall on May 11, 2016 through May 13, 2016, was funded by the U.S. Department of Justice, Office of Community Oriented Policing Services at the request of the Chesterfield Police Department.

The FIP project is directed by Dr. Lorie Fridell of the University of South Florida. The mantra of the core program is "policing based on stereotypes and biases is ineffective, unsafe and unjust." The Chesterfield Police Department has been providing its officers with various forms of annual sensitivity training, racial and cultural awareness training and racial profiling/anti-bias policing training since its inception as a police agency in 1989. Many of these training sessions included information related to implicit bias, although not specifically identified as such at that time.

Dr. Fridell's FIP program is much more comprehensive; the training backs up much of the curriculum with scientific research studies. The Department looked at several other programs advertising to provide similar results and determined this would be the best option. The FIP program does not place blame on anyone, rather it makes officers aware of the implicit bias that exists in all individuals, including the police, and gives officers the tools to overcome these biases. Additional information on the FIP training program can be found at fairimpartialpolicing.com.

Chesterfield Police host Fair & Impartial Policing Course

The Chesterfield Police Department recently hosted a "Train-the-Trainer" course for the nationally recognized "Fair & Impartial Policing (FIP)" comprehensive training program. Four members of the Chesterfield Police Department completed the class and are now certified to teach three of the FIP program modules; FIP for police recruits, FIP for patrol officers and FIP for supervisory personnel. Also attending the class were police officers from the Creve Coeur Police Department, the St. Charles County Police Department and instructors from the Eastern Missouri Police Academy in St. Charles County. Additional attendees included officers from Virginia, Oklahoma, North Carolina, Kentucky, Michigan and Montana.

The newly certified Chesterfield officers will be providing a six-hour FIP block of training to all Chesterfield Police Department personnel over the next year, as well as, serving as trainers for FIP classes at other area agencies. The "Train-the-Trainer" course, which was held at City

New Bike/Pedestrian Bridge Over I-64

A pedestrian connection will soon provide for safer travel across the Chesterfield Parkway East bridge. The City has received a Federal Transportation Alternatives Program (TAP) grant to provide a pedestrian connection from Conway Road across I-64 to Schoettler Valley Drive. The grant funds fifty percent of the construction costs of this project ($900,000).

The project includes a new pedestrian bridge and sidewalk to the west of the existing overpass, as well as street lighting and bicycle safety features on the existing Chesterfield Parkway bridge over I-64. The City's share of the project is $1,175,000, including design. Millstone Weber submitted the low bid and will begin construction in early September, with completion targeted for March.

A new rail system will be installed atop the existing bridge barriers providing additional safety for cyclists.

The goal of the Tree Planting Program is to improve the health and diversity of our community forest for the long term.

Residential Street Tree Planting Program promotes replanting a diverse mix of tree species

As many of you are aware, the City of Chesterfield has been dealing with the devastating effects of an Emerald Ash Borer infestation. The Emerald Ash Borer (EAB) is an exotic wood boring beetle that kills Ash trees by damaging the sapwood and preventing fluid transport throughout the tree. Once infested, trees usually die within 3-5 years. In many of our neighborhoods, there is a dramatic visual impact as the City works through the removal of a large volume of deteriorating street trees. Some neighborhoods will be severely, but unavoidably impacted due to the preponderance of Ash trees that were planted years ago.

Trees are an integral asset within the community and with the proper care will continue to appreciate in value. Trees provide significant economic, functional and structural benefits to the community that help improve the quality of life within the city. When properly maintained, trees return overall benefits and value to the community far in excess of the time and money invested in them for planting, pruning, protection and removal. The City maintains over 25,000 trees on its public streets and in its parks.

As we work through the devastating effects of the Emerald Ash Borer, the City is notifying and encouraging residents to take advantage of the Residential Street Tree Planting Program. The goal of this cost-sharing program is not just to replant street trees, but to improve the health and diversity of our community forest in the long term. The overpopulation of one species ultimately leads to health issues that contribute to the decline and death of trees, as we are seeing with Ash trees. As we reforest our City streets, the Residential Street Tree Planting program offers a diverse mix of approved species and encourages residents to choose a wide variety of tree species to reforest our neighborhoods. A healthy, sustainable community forest should include trees of multiple species, sizes and ages.

Information and materials for the Residential Street Tree Planting program can be found at chesterfield.mo.us/residential-street-tree.html. To learn more about Emerald Ash Borer and the City's EAB Action Plan, visit chesterfield.mo.us/emerald-ash-borer.html.

Live sculpture created during concert series to be installed permanently at Chesterfield Amphitheater

As part of the Sounds of Summer Concert Series with Live Art, artist Catharine Magel was chosen to create a permanent sculpture as part of the Chesterfield Amphitheater landscape. This sculpture is painted live during each of the concerts until October 1, 2016.

The live painting of the sculpture was made possible by a grant awarded to Chesterfield Parks, Recreation & Arts by the Regional Arts Commission of St. Louis. Our goal was to inform the public about the arts initiatives in Chesterfield by integrating art with the ongoing musical festival. The program is meant to engage the public, bring artwork to the outdoors as a reminder of the area’s identity and establish Chesterfield as a creative place maker in the community.

“Meeting Places” is a sculpture that explores the possibility and relationship between form and surface and the intersection of cultures East and West. The color is evocative of flowing music. Color has emotion like music and therefore the piece will be colorful and energetic. The sculpture itself is made of aluminum and the design was drawn in CAD. Water jet cut pieces are made from the drawings and the aluminum will be sprayed with etching spray. The painting will be on site throughout the remainder of the concerts with a special car paint with a smooth finish.

The completion of the plaza was sponsored by Direct TV, Lakeside Interiors and Grey Eagle Distributing.

Butterflies abound at the YMCA

The West County Family Y has joined with the Chesterfield Citizens Committee for the Environment (CCE) and the Sophia M. Sachs Butterfly House to help protect and grow Chesterfield's Monarch butterfly population. Several events will take place in October to help educate residents and YMCA members about the importance of our pollinators and how to provide a habitat in your own backyard during the fall planting season. Be sure to stop by the educational exhibit at the Y October 12-14 to pick up some great information from the CCE about butterflies and pollinators and a free seed packet (limited quantities.)

On October 12 from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., a Gardening for Pollinators program will be presented by the staff from the Butterfly House, a division of the Missouri Botanical Garden, discussing native plants that provide pollinators food and shelter for each season of the year. Learn about all the pollinators important to our gardens including both honeybees and our native bees, butterflies, moths, beetles, flies and hummingbirds. The presentation also gives recommendations on butterfly host plants that their caterpillars will feed on.

A limited number of plant seeds will be available as well to help you get started. The free event will be held in the Theater at the West County Family Y. No RSVP is required.

Bring your gardening tools and be a part of planting a pollinator garden on October 15 at 9 a.m., where volunteers will gather at the Y to create the garden behind the facility where it will be enjoyed by those on the Central Park trail around the lake. With guidance from the Butterfly House staff, a variety of plants will be included to attract and provide a habitat for butterflies and other pollinators.

Bauers build strong roots in Chesterfield

By Ann Chrissos

Chesterfield Historic & Landmarks Preservation Committee

The Bauer family has lived and worked in the Chesterfield area for several generations. The parents of Daniel Bauer immigrated to the United States from Alsace-Lorraine and purchased a farm along Woods Mill and Conway Roads. Daniel (b. 1846, d. 1925), attended school in the basement of Old Bonhomme Church and inherited the farm where he raised his family. He married Annie Myers (b. 1850, d. 1938) from Ste. Genevieve and they had a son, Albert (b. 26 Jan 1887, d. 1963). Albert married Amelia Mueller (b. 9 Aug 1892, d. 1983). Her parents were Domian (b. c. 1866, d. 1953) and Elizabeth Ball Mueller (b. abt. 1866) who are buried at Bellerive Cemetery. Albert and Amelia had two daughters, Melva Bauer Westover (b. 10 Aug 1915) and Mildred (Mil) Alberta (b. 12 Jan 1923). Mil recalls that her father raised wheat, corn, tomatoes, melons and other garden vegetables. Her family owned cows for dairy products, a horse and a mule for farm work and pigs for food. The pigs were butchered in the winter and neighbors came to help. Her mother did all of the cooking to feed the workers. The family also made apple butter and Mil fondly remembers meals of homemade sausage, biscuits and apple butter. On a Sunday in the early 1930s, Mil walked out her rather long driveway to get the newspaper. She saw a man walking on Conway Road and imagined him to be a robber. She ran the entire way home to tell her parents. Later that day, her dad got a call from the caretaker of the Tiffany Jewelry Company home on Conway. He asked him to call the Sheriff. The caretaker claimed that a group of eight to ten men, some with machine guns, had tied up all the help and had ransacked the house. One of the men with a gun was told to “watch that kid out there,” so he stood at a window with his gun pointed at Mil until she disappeared into her house. Nothing was taken, the culprits were never found and the reason for their search was never discovered. Since this event occurred during the Prohibition Era, her parents speculated that the men may have been part of the Mafia.

Mil attended Bellefontaine School where Garnet Glaser was her teacher for the first four grades. The school sponsored a school picnic each year which Mil attended. Some years it was held on the school grounds and at other times it was in the side yard of Rinkels' store. The store also had a community center where plays, card games and other activities were held. Since transportation to Eureka High School was not possible, Mil lived with her aunt in Normandy during the week, where she attended Normandy High School. The Bauers attended Bonhomme Presbyterian Church and shopped at Rinkel's store in Bellefontaine and Zierenberg's store in Lake. The farm was sold in 1945 and today Brookings Park occupies the land.

In 1948 Mil lived in an apartment and worked in St. Louis during the week. On weekends, she took a bus to Glaser's store in Gumbo where she used the telephone to call her father to pick her up. While waiting for her ride, she met the store owner's son, Norvell (b. 5 Jan 1925, d. 17 Feb 2012). They were married on 5 July 1949 at St. Thomas United Church of Christ in Gumbo. They had four children: Barbara Glaser Trettel (b. 3 July 1950); Gayle Glaser Kovarik (b. 6 Mar 1953); Linda Glaser Krumrey (b. 23 July 1957); and Neil (b. 21 Aug 1959). Barbara has 2 children, Gayle has two children and three stepchildren and Linda has three children. Mil also has 11 great grandchildren.

Mil has lived most of her life in Chesterfield, either on her parents' farm or with her husband in their house on Wild Horse Creek Road. Her grandparents are buried in the Old Bonhomme Cemetery, and she plans to be buried with her husband in Gumbo Cemetery. She currently resides at Friendship Village on Olive Boulevard volunteers on Tuesdays at St. Luke's Hospital.
