---

St. Louis County SAVES™ is a $10.4 million residential energy efficiency loan program supported by partnerships between the following organizations:

St. Louis County – primary sponsor of the program with oversight on all aspects of delivery to promote energy efficiency and economic development in the community.

EarthWays Center, a division of Missouri Botanical Garden – promotes sustainability through environmental education and improving the built environment; leads contractor recruitment, training, energy efficiency verification and marketing efforts for the program.

Abundant Power Solutions - partners with states and municipalities to design, administer and finance energy-efficiency and renewable-energy programs.

This program, which began in May, provides low interest rate loans for $2,500 to $15,000 to residential property owners to make energy efficiency improvements to their homes. This includes things such as new windows, high efficiency HVAC systems, insulation and water heaters among others.

Municipalities within St. Louis County can allow their residents to be eligible for the program by signing the attached Cooperation Agreement. The County maintains sole administrative control over the program as to the criteria, eligible prospects and all other aspects of the program. It is offered to all unincorporated parts of the County and to those municipalities which agree to approve the cooperation agreement. Minimal requirements that are asked on the part of the cities include:

- a) Posting an informational flyer provided by the County at City Hall and other public areas that may be beneficial.

- b) Include information in our quarterly newsletter to residents, including communication from the County's Sustainability Director.
- c) Include a link to the program's web site, www.stlouscountysaves.com from the City's web site.

The program can be terminated with 30 days written notice by either party. The agreement remains in effect as long as the program is funded and operating. It is anticipated the program will continue for a three-year period.

City Attorney, Rob Heggie, has reviewed this agreement and expressed no concerns with the agreement or language. This is an outstanding program that other communities across the country have had great success with and Chesterfield residents can benefit greatly from this opportunity.
